While I do feel that it is a very good idea to carry out a study to determine the impact of solar projects on public land, I feel that the moratorium on applications for new project is an EXTREMELY BAD IDEA. Why can't the progress that is being made continue while the research is being conducted? A moratorium makes no sense.

Energy independence is an extremely important issue for our nation, and this moratorium will be a major setback on the road to independence. Solar energy is a clean, proven energy which will help our country develop economically, and which will also increase our self reliance and national security. This moratorium on new projects would be a major setback, and an unwise decision.
