As a lifetime Las Vegas resident and a business owner in North Las Vegas, Nevada, I am appaled at the proposed land closure in the Primm, Nevada area. I thought that America was a free country, but more and more of the land around this state is being closed for no reason. There is plenty of closed land around the Las Vegas Valley that can be used for solar panels. The Eldorado Valley was recently closed, why not put them there? Is this just another reason to close more "PUBLIC" land? As an outdoorsman and sportman, land closures have effected my other outdoor hobbies, such as hunting and fishing, and I am not willling to loose access to more "PUBLIC" land. Most of the "PUBLIC" land around Las Vegas Valley has already been closed. I pay my taxes and need to have access to public land for pleasure riding and racing inclose proximity to the Las Vegas Valley.
