Hello,

My name is Brian. I am very active in the ohv usage in and around the las Vegas area. I was born and raised here in the Las Vegas area. It is very dis-pleasing to me that our land is being taken away at an astronimical rate. Seems like every time you turn around, another large piece of land is gone. I understand that the environment is in between a rock and a hard place, and action needs to be taken. I just believe that other alternatives could be proposed. The off-road racing community uses this land a lot. By taking it away, not only is our tax paying land being taken away, and our area of fun, family related activites, but a lot of members of society also thrive on the sports and recreational activites that use this land. The desert is a big part of our community. There are many businesses, big and small, that use the desert as a way of life. Their businesses thrive off the ohv community. By taking away the land, many peoples businesses will be greatly affected. Please reconsider the area for these solar panels. I am sure that if we all work together, we can come to a reasonable solution that will make both sides happy. It only takes a little time and effort from both sides, which for us who believe the land is a part of our family, time and effort is nothing compared to the loss we will suffer. Thank you for your time.
