I am against everyone closing the desert for enviromental reasons, i.e. the desert tortise. Then they turn around and build houses, power plants, and what ever else they want. How much money are you lining the pockets of the powers to be in order to push this through? Also, do you have any idea how dangerous an ohv park really is? You take all these people who ride all over the valley and cram them into a park? With or with out arrows and one way signs, people still hit each other! Dont turn Nevada into California. All of California is already moving out here to ride. I guess the people who are against the off roaders are moving out here too, hence the problems. The racers are the ones who respect the desert, they dont want it taken away. Some, not all of the weekend riders dont respect it as they should, lets teach them so we can pass on our passion to our children and grandchildren. Why not put all the power plants together? they are all spread out.Is that a possibility? Thank you for your time.
